KFX rescheduled to July 2020

March 10, 2020

As the presenting organizers of the Kelowna Fan Experience, a large scale event with a high number of attendees from throughout North America, New Vintage Theatre has been closely monitoring recent global events and the impact of the COVID19 health crisis. After much conversation internally, and after conducting a voluntary risk assessment with the assistance of local health officials, we have determined it is not prudent to proceed with our event as scheduled on March 20-22, 2020.

We have rescheduled the event to July 10-12, 2020. While we know this will be disappointing to our artists, vendors, and patrons, we hope they will understand and will join us for a great event in July. Almost all of our amazing line-up of performers have been very understanding and have agreed to return on the revised dates if their schedules allow.

Those ticketholders, vendors, and artists that are not able to attend our July event will be offered full refund for tickets purchased or tables booked. Please contact info@newvintage.ca for further information. Further updates will be posted to our website and social media as information is available.
